Congratulations on the 50th Anniversary of the Polymer Society of Korea (PSK)

On behalf of the Polymer Division of the Chinese Chemical Society (PDCCS), I would like to extend my warmest congratulations to PSK on its 50th anniversary.

Over the past 50 years, PSK has been deeply committed to the advancement of polymer science. We are highly impressed by the remarkable achievements that the Korean polymer scientists have made these years, covering basic research and technological innovation. PSK has vigorously promoted the development of polymer science in Korea and made important contributions to the prosperity and progress of the polymer community in Asia and the world.

China and Korea are geographically and culturally connected, sharing a profound academic bond in polymer science, with a cooperation history spanning more than 30 years. The first Korea-China Polymer Symposium was held in 1993, followed by active participation in regional academic cooperation. It is good to see that the two societies aim to enhance interaction and cooperation recently, as manifested by a Memorandum of Cooperation signed in 2025 and the China-Korea Polymer Symposium in 2025, Guangzhou, China.

The 50th anniversary marks not only a summary of your glorious journey but also a new starting point for future endeavors. We sincerely hope that PSK will build on past achievements and scale new heights. We expect both sides to take the new cooperation mechanism as a bond to deepen practical cooperation between the two societies, including academic exchange, joint research and talent cultivation. Let's work together and contribute wisdom and strength to the advancement of global polymer science and the sustainable development of human society.
